The Perils of Long Engagements. A New York letter says that the form of marriage proposal popular with young men will now be to the effect: "Darling, will Judge Wallace has unearthed one objec-tion to "long engagements" never before PRICES by Mail, Pestage Palds urged. He has found that if the engagements and German. Price 15 cents. and startling ruling has been made in the suit of Ulman against Myer. Our readers will remember that not many months ago that trial was running through the co umns of the daily papers, and the de-fense seemed to bristle with nearly every point of law which could well b raised in a breach of promise suit appears that the gentleman had one mor famous law known as the Statute of Frauds. Some say it was thus christened becaus intended to prevent frauds; others say the is to require written evidence of a contract in order to sustain a law suit upon it. Among other things it declares void "every agreement that by its terms is not to be performed in one year from the making thereof." Counsel for the gentleman so lately cast in damages have now urged that this proposal was for a wedding a year later, and that it was not in writing. As the Judge is a United States Judge, it might have been expected that he would feel sufficient interest in encouraging the united state of expected that he would leet sufficient in-terest in encouraging the united state of matrimony to argue down such an objec-tion; but no, he has sustained it, and says that a new trial must be granted for inves-tigating the question of date. In other words, the asture young man of the period may enchain a dozen favored damsels in words, the sature young man of the period may enchain a dozen favored damsels in marriage engagements by simply adding the scarce noticeable words, "year after next," or something to that effect, to his proposals, as he whispers them to one lady after another, and, while the twelve each fondly imagine him bound, he exults in knowing that he is free. Let the girls beware of suitors who talk of long engagements, but do not write. By all means the fashionable stationers should furnish some sort of "engagement card," like those used at dances, on which Lothario should be encouraged to note his offer in pencil—a pencil memorandum has been adjudged sufficient under the statute of frauds. Or probably Judge Wallace may be willing that manma should make a sort of "bought and sold note," acting as agent of both parties, as is done when the statute of frauds is applied to sales by brokers or auctioneers A petite "autograph book" would be boooular as an addition to the chatekaine of freshments, with the flattering requ
